AGONY

"Age cannot wither nor custom stale,
Her infinite variety."

White as the snowy bloom of Rhodora's tree
Her gentle bosom swells,
And her pure sweet heart is a Holy land
Wherein no evil dwells.

How blest the straight and narrow way
Her loving eyes illumine,
For love alone gives the flower of life
Its lustre and perfume.

And when the dark chill winter comes
And the golden rod turns gray,
When youth and hope like withered flowers
Have bloomed and passed away.

Then still shall pure and constant faith
Its sweet assurance bring,
For without it we and trust the human soul
Is but a lonely thing.

And when this eager heart grows faint
And its fiery throbbing ceases,
Her touch upon my brow shall bring
Exceeding peace.

ALAN MACKENZIE

Father said he couldn't go on looking for a job at all yesterday because motor had the car.

The only thing worse than sitting next to a fellow who has been eating onions is trailing a car that spurts carbon monoxide.

Finding the automobile tank half full of gas after the wife has been out on a roadside shopping tour is as soothing as a tooth that has quit aching.

Nowadays when one sees a man under an automobile he can't tell whether he is a mechanic or a pedestrian.

A lot of unhappiness is caused by trying to build the home between the garage and a lot of other places.

Small boy—Daddy was run into by an automobile and he wants to know if you'll let him have groceries on credit?
Grocer—Has he got a good lawyer?

A pedestrian is a man whose wife has gone out in the car. Look out!

The fellow in the rumble seat all but missed getting in on the party.

Usually the kiss an old married man gives his wife is just about as flat as a tire after a blowout.

There is no cynic like the automobile insurance adjuster.

Mother always laughs when father looks up the sedan, but he says he remembers when he used to leave the whip and the robe in the buggy.

Father says when a tire blows up there is a large sharp explosion and it is all over, but when mother blows up the noise is liable to last for a week.

The telegraph companies find the word "STOP" in its telegrams more economical than the hydraulic brake.

Client—You see a great loss—the loss of your husband.
Client—But, Madam, he has been dead for five years!

Client—Then you will lose your umbrella.

"You cannot sing hymns on Sunday and go out and defraud your neighbor on Monday; the two things just won't mix," says a minister; but, unfortunately, some people do that very thing, but deceive no one but themselves.

Mother—Now, Susie, Raymond says he's sorry he broke your doll, so I want you to forgive him.
Susie—Id feel more like forgiving him, mother dear, if I could swap him one first.

A job, these days, if it is a fairly dependable and permanent one is more to be desired than a small fortune.

A little boy was saying his good-bye prayers in a very low voice.
Mother—I can't hear you, dear.
Small one (firmly)—Wasn't talking to you.

The young bride often has this in her favor. Her husband before the wedding has reached the point where almost anything tastes better than restaurant food.

Zoe—A penny for your thoughts.
Moe—Say, you just hit it. I was just wondering how I was going to get home on the bus with only nine cents for fare.

Small-town churches still enjoy "revivals." One must go early in order to get a back seat.

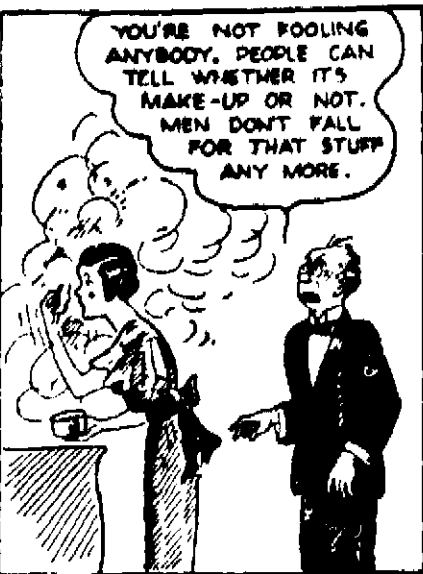

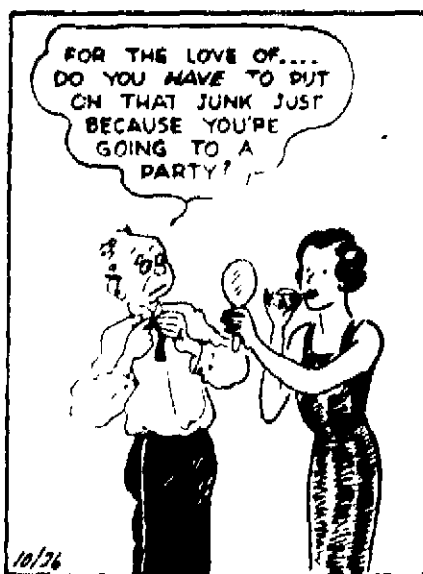

Nowadays the midnight oil is burned in the transmission instead of the lamp.

The increases in about 3,300 wholesale establishments were one per cent in employment and 1.5 per cent in payrolls. From August to September, 1934, the retail firms took on 7.9 per cent more workers and increased total payroll 5.9 per cent, while wholesalers reported gains of less than one per cent in employment and payrolls.

Increases in employment occurred in all classes of retail establishments with the exception of automotive dealers, including new and used car merchants, tires, accessories, gas and oil retailers. Wearing apparel shops reported net increases of approximately 24 per cent and department stores reported the second greatest increase, approximately 14 per cent. HITCH-HIKED TO PENSION RALLY

Mrs. Mary E. Miller of Denver, 58 years old, hitch-hiked her way to the national convention of Townsend Club members at Chicago so interested was she in the Townsend $200-a-month pension plan. No Representation

To Voters of the Fourth Ward:
 In 1933, when you saw fit to elect a Republican supervisor and a Democratic alderman, a Democratic leader is supposed to have said that he would starve out the people in the Fourth Ward by turning down the Democratic candidates. Whether this is true or not does not matter, but the fact remains that subsequent actions by the Democratic leaders makes this statement very probable. For instance, it must be remembered that our present supervisor, Joseph Kelly, was denied the opportunity to serve on any committee by the Democratically controlled Board of Supervisors. Since, upon taking office, Mr. Kelly represented every citizen in the ward, we consider it a direct affront to every voter in the Fourth Ward. Our resentment to this high handed action was admirably expressed in the following editorial which appeared in the Kingston Daily Freeman.

How Small Men's Minds

"At the election a year ago a certain candidate received a majority vote in his district, one of those in this city, taking from Democratic control a seat on the Board of Supervisors considered 'safe' for a good many years. The successful candidate is a popular figure in his ward, is well liked, and has a legion of friends in both parties. It was not a question of parties in the election of this man, it was a question of faith in him and the things for which he stood—so his people sent him to the Board of Supervisors to have him represent them. "The Board of supervisors in appointing its standing and various committees listed each supervisor at least once, some several times, on these committees groups—That is, all of the supervisors except the one who captured the long standing Democratic ward. He received no appointment to any committee. "It can not be conceived that the board's appointing officer considered that this man was incapable of holding a committee seat to matter how important, for the man is a successful young business man whose background and training qualifies him above perhaps one half of the board as one with knowledge to serve.

"It leaves only one possibility—a direct rebuke to the voters of his district and to the man who made the successful run. How small are men's minds that when they take a liking they must seek such an unpleasant attitude; how narrow must their horizon be to take out their disappointment on the man chosen by the voters to represent them.

"This action of the appointing officers of the board will not win friends, especially when it becomes generally known that a representative of the people has been ignored simply because he was popular enough to win an election. The whole thing is pretty small business.

In addition there were numerous instances where individual citizens were made to feel the displeasure of the Democratic overlords.

Do you relish this treatment of your neighbors and representatives? Are you, like chastised dogs, going to sink back to lick your master's boots, or are you like a free people who are still endowed with the spirit of 1776, going to assert and maintain your independence? Let your ballot speak for you on election day.

Vote for honest and efficient government.

Vote the Republican ticket. Vote your convictions and not your fears.

FOURTH WARD BETTER GOVERNMENT COMMITTEE.

For the first time since 1924 the month of September was moderately cold, with the average temperature less than normal, according to the general summary of New York weather conditions by the weather bureau maintained at Cortland by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Those Federal Funds

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 24, 1935
 To the Citizens of Kingston:
 Tonight's Freeman reports speeches made by several prominent Democrats, the theme song of which is the ever recurring refrain, "We will give everything to the needy." Said Francis T. Murray: "Mr. Martin will not turn down Federal and State funds for the needy, and he can be depended upon to do everything possible to give work and aid to the needy." Said Mr. Roscoe Irwin: "Bill Martin will take every cent he can get from the State and Federal government to relieve the suffering in the city."

In the same issue John W. Matthews complains that some necessary work on the water system could have been done with Federal aid, and some money could have been saved the taxpayers. If Mr. Matthews does or does not believe that the Federal government has a magic way of producing money is not a question at issue, although it may be a very interesting point to argue. But the fact remains that the Water Department is a self-sustaining unit which does not raise any money through general taxation. It has a commodity to sell, and it charges for it. It has done so ever since its creation, and it is not quite ethical to have the Federal government bear part of the operating cost. It is a public utility, and the fact that it is publicly owned should not interfere with the dictum that revenues must balance compound cost of operation. It is perhaps permissible to accept Federal aid for projects which are not absolutely necessary and which can be classified as "made" work. Otherwise it is showing discrimination against privately owned public utilities.

Another point at issue is this. Men working on the Water Works receive prevailing wages and are thus kept off the relief rolls. Does Mr. Matthews intend to put them through the wringer and force them to work for PWA "security" wages?

But thus runs the philosophy of the Democrats. First by laws and various alphabetic codes to take from this means of earning a living, then magnanimously grant them Federal largesse to keep them from starving, then tax the very bread that they are eating. Great guys these friends of labor.

But with all their solicitude for the needy they have not yet explained why no Federal funds have been made available to get the proposed PWA projects started. Why is it that their Democratic friends in Albany and Washington do not share their deep-felt sympathy? Are they trying to help their loyal brethren along so that they may promise the unemployed something which by right is theirs already, due to an act of Congress? Do they intend to convey the thought that there will be no Federal aid unless Democratic candidates are elected? Do these local philanthropists believe that they alone are capable of taking care of the needy without partisanship? The people of this city have not forgotten the sworn affidavits which were published two years ago, showing unmistakably the Democratic Work-Relief Bureau was used for political purposes.

The writer is ready to swear that he too received a card for three days' work (which he rejected) the week prior to the 1932 election, when he had an income, whereas just a few short months previously, with no income, he was told that he was not eligible for it. Has the cock changed his feathers? Playing politics with human misery? Indeed.

RIP VAN WINKLE TRIANGLE HOLDS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The regular meeting of Rip Van Winkle Triangle, No. 51, Daughters of the Eastern Star, was held at Masonic Hall, Thursday evening. This being the semi-annual meeting, election of officers took place. Mrs. Olympia Cottine, junior deputy, presiding. The following officers were elected: Phyllis Van Buren, beloved queen; Violet Schmalkuche, senior lady-in-waiting; Edna Beatty, junior lady-in-waiting; Evelyn Howard, guardian; Eva White, chaplain; Margaret Hutton, treasurer; June Kellerman, corresponding and recording secretary; Doris Stadelman, financial secretary; Kathryn Mary Drexell, flag bearer; Lola Tremper, marshal; Priscilla Howard, assistant marshal.

The beloved queen elect will appoint a musician, historian and five guides. Officers will be installed at the meeting on Thursday evening, November 14. The installation will be held at public. Following the election a class of candidates were initiated. The members were delighted to have with them a delegation from Mid-Hudson Triangle at Poughkeepsie. Sister Walker, junior deputy of Mid-Hudson Triangle, addressed the girls, congratulating them upon the impressive manner in which they conducted their meeting, and expressed her grateful appreciation to the members of Rip Van Winkle Triangle for the beautiful work exemplified by the night Mid-Hudson Triangle was organized. On that occasion a full staff of officers from Rip Van Winkle Triangle went to Poughkeepsie and put on the opening, closing and initiatory work in addition of Mid-Hudson Triangle addressed the girls and thanked them for the favor they presented to her Triangle.

Mary Howard, district deputy of the Greene-Union district, was called upon and responded briefly, congratulating the girls on the splendid work and wishing them continued success.

A communication was read from M. W. Alice M. Scardfield, grand matron of the state of New York, thanking the girls for a gift they presented to her on Saturday evening when a reception was tendered in her honor by the members of Chilton Chapter. The members of Rip Van Winkle Triangle enjoy an honor that no other Triangle of the state can claim, for they have as chairman of their supervisors the grand matron of the state of New York.

At the close of the meeting the members had a Halloween party. Miss Violet Schmalkuche was in charge of games. The lodge room and the tables in the dining room were attractively decorated with cornucopias and pumpkins. The room was decorated by Miss Edna Beatty and Miss Elsie Buchanan. Miss Evelyn Howard served on the refreshment committee and attended to the table decorations. Delicious refreshments were served. Miss Jean Moynaux played the piano for dancing. Thus ended a very pleasant and interesting meeting enjoyed by all.

Color Decides Gem's Value

Color is of supreme importance in determining the value of gems. Next in value to a red diamond comes a green. A few years ago a very dark colored diamond was found near Bloemfontein. When cut it proved to be emerald green and, though it weighed only one and a half carats, was sold for $1,800. A bright red diamond found near Kimberley was sold for $4,500, though its weight is only six carats. It is thus worth more than four times as much as a colorless diamond. The value of an opal depends entirely on its color. A common opal is white, greenish, yellowish or bluish colors is cheap, but a fire opal is worth a great deal of money. Most valuable of all is the so-called black opal. A gem of this kind, weighing only 25 carats, sold for $25,000.

Quaternary in Geology

Quaternary in geology is the time division which comprises all the time which has elapsed from the end of the Pliocene to the present day. The term, says the Washington Star, was proposed by J. Deshayes in 1829. The Quaternary is thus the fourth of the great time divisions in the geological scale—the primary, or Paleozoic; the secondary, or Mesozoic, and the Tertiary, or Cainozoic, being the first three—but it represents relatively such a small space of time that some geologists hesitate to give it equal rank and regard it merely as a subdivision of the Tertiary. Broadly, as the Tertiary may be called the age of man, the Quaternary may be called the age of man. Although man or his ancestors were evolved during the Tertiary, it is in the Quaternary that man becomes the dominant animal.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Big Crowd At The Randall Sale

The big "Ordered Sold" sale of the E. E. Randall store on Wall street beginning Friday not only was exceedingly successful from the viewpoint of E. E. Randall and his associates but it decidedly woke up Wall street after a very dull and inactive week as far as business had gone.

Fifty "first women shoppers" were on hand for the sale quite while before the doors were opened for the sale which was genuine in every particular.

And, just as Mr. Randall did not hesitate to advertise that his store was between those of "Sears" and "Woolworth", so did the shoppers that he brought out and shoppers for doing other shopping so that it was a sort of overflow meeting of neighbors and friends all along Wall street.

There were about 200 very surprised people besides the neighboring storekeepers, at the closing of the store entirely, with impressive chains across the doorways, for a half hour at noon time in order that all of the employees might get their lunch and come back for the afternoon rush, refreshed and ready for the rush.

Judging from the good nature of the 200 and more who were in line to come back into the store when the doors re-opened, they too had had their lunch.

Meeting Gardiner and New Paltz Committees

The Farm Bureau committees from the communities of Gardiner and New Paltz met Friday evening in joint session at the home of Fred DuBois, New Paltz. As this was the annual meeting of the committees several important business matters came up for discussion, such as the county programs on dairy, fruit and poultry, the planning of local Farm Bureau programs for the coming year; election of county committees and community chairmen and last but not least arranging the several details in connection with the membership campaign.

Raymond DuBois, chairman of the Gardiner committee, acted as general chairman of the meeting. After calling of the roll he gave a detailed report of the county-wide dairy program, planned recently by the county commodity committee, of which he is a member. Solomon LeFevre of Gardiner gave the report for the poultrymen and W. J. Clark, assistant county agent, discussed the fruit report for the coming year.

The next order of business had to do with the planning of a local tri-county commodity program. After considerable discussion it was the consensus of opinion that the county-wide programs would pretty much fill the bill for these communities since many of the meetings for the dairymen, poultrymen and fruit growers would be held either in New Paltz or Gardiner, or in a nearby community. The two-day fruit school to be held some time next February was given full approval by the fruit men present.

The community chairmen of New Paltz and Gardiner, Frank Elliott and Raymond DuBois respectively, were re-elected to serve for another year. On the county commodity committee, for New Paltz, T. M. Sullivan was elected on the dairy committee with Jesse Deyo. Fred DuBois, Jr. was re-elected to represent his community on the poultrymen and was also elected to serve on the county fruit committee with Jay Dodd.

For Gardiner, Richard Borchert and Raymond DuBois were re-elected to represent the dairymen, Solomon LeFevre the poultrymen, and David DuBois and Arthur Kurtz the fruit growers.

Before adjourning for refreshments, the committees went over their respective membership lists, dividing them for the annual drive which begins on November 1. Those who attended this joint meeting were as follows: Raymond DuBois, Richard Borchert, David DuBois and Solomon LeFevre, Gardiner; from New Paltz, Fred DuBois, Jr., Frank Elliott, Jay Dodd, T. M. Sullivan and Fred DuBois, Jr. and William J. Clark, assistant Farm Bureau manager.

Yellow Jackets Will Play Hudson Here Sunday at 2:30

Sunday afternoon the Yellow Jackets will seek their fifth straight victory when they go into action against the Hudson A. C. at the Kingston Fair Grounds at 2:30.

So far this season the Waps are unscathed upon, having rolled up 49 points against the opposition in four games that saw them take over the Newburgh Recreation, Jamaica Cardinalia, Watervliet Garnets and Albany Lucky Strikes.

Hudson is undefeated, too, up to this point in the season, its last victory having been over the highly touted Port Jervis Police last Sunday. The star of this fray for Hudson was Kachowski, who scored the Columbia club's touchdown on a pass from Brosky.

The Hudson eleven claims the mythical championship of the Hudson Valley and is out to retain this honor. It hopes to beat Kingston and break its string of victories.

Manager Charlie Raible says his Jackets are out to prevent this and add the mythical champs to the list of Wap conquests.

The probable starting lineups:

Mahoney Attacks Sherrill's Stand

New York, Oct. 26 (AP).—American participation in the Olympic games continued today to be the crux of the acrid debate.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the American Amateur Athletic Union who recently declared Dr. Theodor Lewald, president of the German Olympic committee, was being used as a "screen" by the German government, attacked last night the principles of Nazism in general and General Charles Sherrill in particular.

"I am talking as an individual and not as president of the A. A. U.," he said in a radio talk, "but my heart is in this cause because I know it has the better of the moral issue involved. It is not a question of race or religion any more, or a question of athletics."

"It is a question of whether we shall lend help and endorsement and approval to the Nazi government that knows not the rules of sport or fair play, but which in sport as well as in all other activities and functions of life, resorts to force and oppression and persecution to accomplish its wicked ends."

General Sherrill, who recently returned from Germany, broached the possibility of anti-semitic trouble here as a result of the opposition to American participation.

He contended that if the 500,000 Americans in training for possible places on Olympic teams suddenly became aware of efforts to thwart their desires, they might incite anti-semitic trouble that would last for years.

A Cowardly Statement

Referring to this Mahoney said: "No real friend of the Jews of this country would attempt to silence any self-respecting Jew by proclaiming that an American protest against conditions in Germany might create an anti-semitic movement here."

"Such a statement is cowardly and is made merely to intimidate the courageous, fearless, liberty-loving Jews living in our midst."

Nerve Strain and Anxiety of Coaching

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 26 (AP).—Major Robert R. Neyland, possibly influenced by the present grid season of "headaches, heartaches and upsets," is seriously considering "calling it a day" as a football coach.

Free from the worries of a gridiron tutor for the first time in nine years, Neyland, on a 30-day vacation from his army assignment in the Panama Canal Zone, said today that he wondered "if the nerve strain and anxiety are worth it."

Neyland was here to see the Vanderbilt-Louisiana State game. He plans to move on to Columbus next Saturday to watch Ohio State play Notre Dame. Last week he saw Rice and Southern Methodist in action.

"I am fond of my life," he said, "and enjoy that kind of work. I am not convinced in my own mind that the greater financial possibilities in football are really worth the price one has to pay in nerve strain and anxiety over coaching problems."

Neyland asked rumors that he was in contact with any school regarding a coaching post next year.

It has been rumored that Neyland desired to return to his old post at the University of Tennessee, where he hung up an enviable record between 1924 and 1928. It was reported also that he was interested in Fordham and U. S. Military Academy positions.

Cats and Dogs

A cat has 20 teeth, a dog 42. The cat is known to strike blows, the dog to get. The dog bites comfort at the master's head when troubled, the cat scratches nervously. A cat's record shows the oldest cat lived 21 years, the average being 19. The old cat dog lived 21 years, the average 12 to 14, except bulldogs.

Little Stories About Some of the Day's Outstanding Games

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 26 (AP).—Two of the East's unbeaten football teams met today when Yale and Army marched into the bowl for the 26th encounter of their colorful series.

It was the last time for them to come together on an annual basis as Navy is soon to supplant the Cadets on the Yale schedule every second year.

A crowd of more than 45,000 was expected to turn out for the classic. The Elis were given a slight edge due to their brilliant showings against Penn and Navy but the game was regarded as almost even. Two Army regulars, Quarterback Ralph King and Maurice Breston, end, were kept out by injuries.

Navy-Notre Dame
 Baltimore, Oct. 26 (AP).—Meeting for the sixth time, Navy and Notre Dame squared off in the Municipal Stadium here today in a game packed with dynamite. A crowd of about 60,000 began filtering into the big bowl hours before game-time.

The Ramblers, undefeated thus far and victors over more formidable opponents than the once-beaten Midshipmen, rated slight favorites over the service eleven.

Navy's loss to Yale last week, however, stung the Tars mightily and their best efforts at revenge were centered on the South Bend stalwarts.

Their First Meeting

New York, Oct. 26 (AP).—Michigan, already on the road to recovery after an early season reverse, and Columbia, badly beaten by Penn last week clashed today in the first football meeting between the two Universities.

The westerners were highly favored because of Columbia's weak showing against Penn and their own visible improvement since losing to Michigan State.

Wildcats Are Dangerous

Minneapolis, Oct. 26 (AP).—Minnesota's football battery, missing a main gun, battles Northwestern, first big test for the prospect, five before a crowd of 60,000 today.

Odds favored the Gophers, despite heavy casualties, but there was respect for the Wildcats, generally a tough pack for Minnesota.

Georgia vs. Alabama

Athens, Ga., Oct. 26 (AP).—Georgia's Bulldogs, one of the few remaining unbeaten and untied teams in the south, today clashed with Alabama's Rose Bowl team in the 27th renewal of their old gridiron feud. A crowd of 30,000 was expected.

Wittenberg Sportsmen Plan Party and Shoot

Wittenberg, Oct. 26.—James A. Smith, president of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club, reports that in the 10 months of its existence the membership roster of the association has spread from the original number of 25 charter members to 140 at the present date. Included among the members are persons in all walks of life: artists, artisans, physicians, lawyers, dentists, farmers, mechanics, merchants and teachers. The list comprises those with residences in all parts of the state, who have recognized the pleasure to be derived from membership in a club so advantageously situated.

Recent members taken into the organization are: John Bower and Robert Street, Brooklyn; Harold Middaugh, Raymond Woodard, Frank E. Herd, Frank H. Ward, Claude Newden, Charles Jennings, Benjamin Dixon, Allen Newer and George Oetzel, all of Kingston; Robert Lawton and Ralph Bradford of Poughkeepsie.

On Saturday evening, November 2, the club will hold a Ballroom membership dance at the clubhouse at Thanksgiving pond.

Thanksgiving festivities will feature a big trapeze to be held at the Wittenberg pond where at which the prize will include turkeys and other sportsmen interested in trap shooting, whether club members or not, are invited to participate.

The Dogue

A dogue is an aquatic mammal, no like to Australia and the Indian ocean, and closely related to the manatee. Its body is bluish-gray and mottled with brown stripes and a broad, flat tail. The dogue is edible and could make a great delicacy for the Indians. The dogue is a substitute for cod and trout, a full grown animal producing 10 or 12 gallons.

Out In Front

THE Referee ON THE SPOT

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of articles telling of the toughest decisions rendered by some of the nation's outstanding football officials. Everett Strupper of Atlanta, in his seventeenth season as a referee, was a halfback at Georgia Tech, 1915-17, and is a member of Tech's "all-time" all-star eleven.)

By EVERETT STRUPPER

(Written for The Associated Press)

Atlanta (AP).—The hardest play I ever had to call occurred in the Tennessee-Alabama game of 1929.

With Tennessee leading 6-0, Tony Holm carried the ball 78 yards by steady bucks, placing it on Tennessee's 1-yard line. Captain Hicks of Alabama tried to punch it over on the fourth down and was downed six inches from the goal.

If Hicks had given the ball to Holm, their difference in height alone would have given Alabama the touchdown. I Holm had been tackled at exactly the same spot that Hicks was, the rangy powerful boy would have fallen across the line, something Hicks was too small and light to do.

When inches decide a game, it's tough. The final score was Tennessee 6, Alabama 0.

Zuppke's 'Flea Circus' Attacks Big Ten With Flying Trapeze and Razzle Dazzle

By HARVEY HUDSON

Champaign, Ill. (AP).—Rebounding from a disastrous season-opener toward a Big Ten schedule of five games, Bob Zuppke's University of Illinois "flea circus" may yet be heard in the debate over the Western conference championship.

The Illinois loud-speakers were turned down to a whisper after little Ohio University, coached by Don Peden who had performed bits of children's gymnastics for Zuppke in 1929 and '31, repulsed the Illinois threat, 4 to 0, in a "David-and-Goliath" setting.

But, following a 24 to 6 victory over Washington University of St. Louis and a successful turnout of Southern California for a 19 to 4 triumph over Howard Jones' Tennessee, the broadcaster resumed with full power.

One Trapeze-Flourish

Lee Lindstrom, the only potent triple-threat that Zuppke can muster from his backfield contingent, ad-

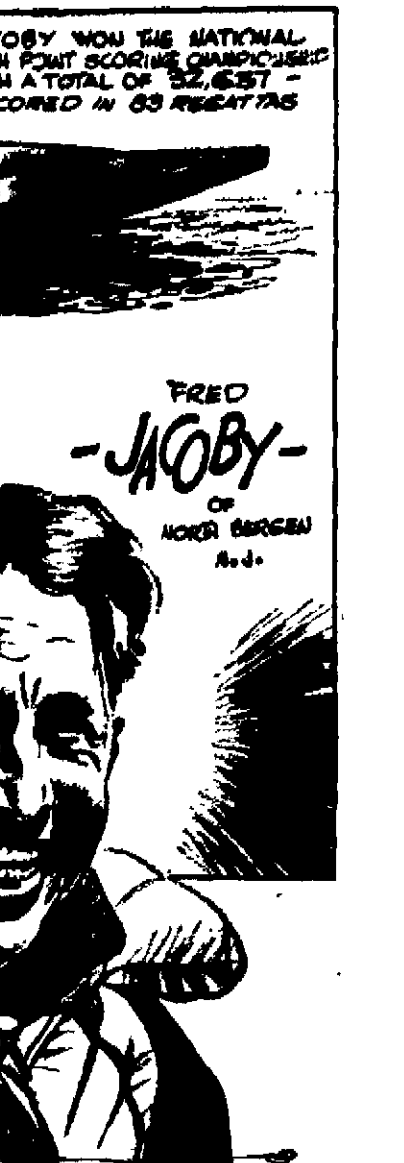

ferred a broken foot bone during the Ohio U. game and it was feared the blow might stun the entire offensive. Lowell Spurgeon, 156-pound sophomore, stepped into the breach, however, and provided himself the necessary stimulant.

Spurgeon can't uphold Lindstrom's punting standard, but he has an unusual top-ranking position in the Illinois aerial circus, both as a punter and receiver. Flanking him at the other half is Bob Griev, second only to Jimmie Owen among the Big Ten sprinters, who can score out sudden death to the opposition after kicking the open field.

Wilbur Henry, junior quarterback, and at 174 pounds the heaviest man in the backfield, shares the punting duties with Spurgeon and he carries much of the burden of the running attack.

The Illinois forward wall, an assortment of men who reported to Zuppke as his ends and a quarter-back, averaged only 140 1/2 pounds but clicks with lightning precision.

Morgenweck to Strengthen His Team

Expressing dissatisfaction with way his club played against City Wednesday, Frank Morgenweck said to a sports reporter today: "I'm sure of all my players in the American League race."

"I've had a letter from Spain. He wants to play with me but I'm not sure of signing him because he has several other jobs. He might be some place else when I want him most."

"The big trouble with doing business with players who belong to more than one club is that when the services are needed most they're around. For instance, suppose I had a game that meant first or second place in the league and they weren't around."

"However, I'm going to try to get all I can to land Moe if it's possible. Morgenweck said he had several players on the string and tends to have in the lineup short."

About Hank Kurtyka, the hawk of last year's Legion, Morgenweck said that he would play with the Paterson Trucking Co. that's what's holding him out signing with Kingston.

"It's not a question of work as was told before, but just a hankling. Kurtyka has to play with Paterson."

Kurtyka, prior to the training season, informed Morgenweck that he had a job with the Paterson Trucking Co. and wouldn't give up his job to remove to Kingston. Morgenweck asks all of his players to take residence here so they can be at the workouts.

"Nick Harvey has told me that Kurtyka is not working now," Morgenweck said today. "So I guess he's about him wanting to play with Paterson and that club isn't true. I intend to have it out with Kurtyka shortly and we'll see what's what."

Morgenweck would not say definitely about taking it to President John J. O'Brien concerning having the old ball hawk depend on the American League. Neither would he say whether he would accept another player Kurtyka in a trade.

Whether Bill Hamilton will be able to stand the pace in the American League is something that Morgenweck has to give strong consideration. Bill's operation last season took a lot out of him and Wednesday's game taxed him to the limit. "It's a wonder to me how that ever stood up last season," Morgenweck said today.

"He suffered from a double hernia and his trip to the hospital may interfere with his basketball this winter."

A man playing in a league like the American circuit, where a body of fact plays a big part, must be rugged and rough and ready. This means that he must be in the "pin" physically.

Horse Meyers has an injury to his shoulder. He hurt it in a work last week and Wednesday night hard play aggravated it.

Frank Shimek and Carlie H. are satisfactory to Morgenweck. He expects them to be outstanding players in the American League.

"Obadiah" Johnston, the boy from the south, has what it takes to be a basketball player, but he needs considerable developing for professional play. Johnston will continue with Kingston for several weeks under the guiding hand of the maestro.

Next Wednesday the Kingston team will play against the Cetus in the Auditorium in their second exhibition game prior to the opening of the American League on November 1.

Royal Whitehall Palace

Where Henry VIII Married

Until the eighteenth century the royal palace of Whitehall occupied most of the land between Chancery Lane and Westminster. London Whitehall was known as York place when Cardinal Wolsey possessed it, and not until it passed into the hands of Henry VIII it was known as Whitehall. It was when Wolsey fell from his greatness in 1529 that Henry VIII seized his property and converted it into a palace. For more than 150 years Whitehall was the chief residence of the court in London. It was there that Henry VIII married Anne Boleyn in 1533.

In later years Queen Elizabeth maintained the grandeur established by her father. In front of this palace Charles I was executed in 1649. Charles II made it a scene of revelry and intrigue. James II fled from Whitehall in 1688. The only palace saved from the fire of 1692 was the banqueting hall, which is now the museum of the United Service Institution. After the destruction of Whitehall the court moved to St. James palace. The British court is still known as "the Court of St. James."

The American Eagle's Birth

The American eagle made his first appearance as a cartoon symbol for the campaign which resulted in Jefferson's election to the Presidency in 1800. On Monday June 20, 1800, the eagle was depicted as "alter to the Gallec disposition," upon which the works of Paine, Goethe, Voltaire and others were burning. Jefferson is shown about to cast the Constitution into the flames. To great American birds is watching the fire with one talon and striking it with the other. In the struggle of the Constitution for the life of the American eagle, the American Scholar, in an article by William Merrell.

Board Will Investigate Plan For Day Nursery

for the annual senior dance on Thanksgiving night. The Kingston Hospital was granted use of the auditorium for the graduation exercises on November 20.

Official notice was received under date of October 7 that Kingston had been allocated a grant of $382,500, a 45 per cent estimated cost of the erection of a junior high school, from the federal government. A formal resolution of acceptance was offered by Trustee Walter and seconded by Trustee Kearney and this official acceptance will be sent to the proper authority under seal of the clerk.

Bills amounting to $6,358.06 and the payroll for October amounting to $36,743.64 were audited and ordered paid. Trustee Walter for the Building Committee reported that the committee had been in conference with George E. Lowe, architect for the junior high school project, and that he had agreed to modify his contract as to payment of fees. However he had been out of town the committee reported since and it had been impossible to get his signature to a revised contract which had been prepared by Corporation Counsel Matthew V. Cahill. The committee reported that a further conference would be had with Mr. Lowe as soon as he returns. The contract submitted by the corporation counsel makes specific provisions as to payment of the architect's fees as the work progresses and provides for a lesser payment than was proposed in Mr. Lowe's first contract. Under the first contract submitted the board too great a percentage of the architect's fee would be paid him before work had progressed to any extent. Mr. Lowe has been paid but $1,000 for his preliminary work to date.

Trustee Byrne for the rules committee moved that when the board adjourn it do so to meet on November 22, since the regular meeting night would fall in the Thanksgiving vacation period. A communication was received from Mrs. D. N. Mathews and from her daughter thanking the board for its expression of sympathy on the death of Trustee Mathews. The committee appointed by the board to draw up a resolution on the death of Mr. Mathews reported through Chairman Cragin and a copy of the resolution will be forwarded to the family of Mr. Mathews.

Superintendent's Report. Superintendent Van Ingen submitted the following report and the board then adjourned. To the Board of Education: The night school was opened on the evening of October 14, 1935. The total registration thus far is 134.

By statute the night school must be in session at least thirty nights. Its sessions are on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings each week from 7:15 to 9:15 in the High School building. On Tuesday night for the same hours there are two college extension courses in session. Approximately thirty adults are attending in each group. One group is operating under authority of New York University and the other under State Teachers College. Regular undergraduate and graduate college credit is given for each of these courses.

Respectfully submitted, B. C. VAN INGEN, Superintendent of Schools Kingston, N. Y., October 25, 1935.

DAMAGE TOTAL MOUNTS IN CALIFORNIA FIRES

With the two-day fire and gale loss put at $4,000,000, CCC workers redoubled their efforts to stamp out the conflagration raging out through the Malibu hills in California. Here is a scene as the workers labored strenuously near the brow of a hill. (Associated Press Photo)

Americanization, 7, R. H. Van Valkenburgh. Rational and technical mechanics, 13, F. C. Gronemeyer.

Frank Macgier is acting as principal.

It is expected that the class in Americanization will be increased so as to warrant its continuation. Its object is to prepare for American citizenship, to learn the fundamentals of American history, American government and American social and political ideals.

The course in mechanics is of high grade of practical instruction. The students are men who are eager to expand their knowledge of general mechanics in an intensive course of problems and applications pertaining to present day engineering practice. It is a new course and great interest is manifest.

There is a call for a class in public speaking but not a sufficient number to warrant starting. However, if a few more expressed a wish to join, such a class could be started next week.

Family of Four Can Get $177.50 Monthly

Albany, Oct. 26, (Special).—Based upon relief rolls, the average family of four persons may, under WPA regulations, triple their income over previous earnings under the TERA. Dr. R. S. Snyder, state director of education and projects, for the WPA announces.

Dr. Snyder said that any member of any family may be employed on a WPA project irrespective of whether other members of the family are engaged in private industry. Once assigned to the WPA payroll, no person is subject to investigation, Dr. Snyder said.

Dr. Snyder pointed out the average earnings of a person employed on a WPA project is approximately $74.75 a month. In addition one member of the same family may be assigned to a CCC Camp, earning approximately $30 a month. Another member may be eligible for work on the National Youth Administration Program, and earn an average of $22.75 a month. A fourth member may find employment in private industry and earn, for purposes of explanation, $50 a month. Thus a family of four persons, so employed, would enjoy an average monthly income of $177.50.
